RED PILLAR TAPPED FOR IZZARELLI ASSEMBLY CAMPAIGN

Newly formed firm will handle Kim Izzarelli's campaign for NY's 95th AD

OSSINING, NY – Assembly candidate Kim Izzarelli announced Monday that Red Pillar Consulting, LLC has signed on as advisors to her campaign for New York's 95th Assembly District seat.

The principals of the newly formed political consulting firm — John Hicks, Michael Knowles, Charlie Banks and Jesse Dwyer — have served in senior advisory roles to presidential and local candidates alike. The four met when they helped to elect Rep. Nan Hayworth (NY-19) in 2010.

Izzarelli received the endorsement of the Westchester and Putnam County Republican Committees on Tuesday, May 19, at committees' nominating convention and is unopposed in the Republican primary.

"I'm delighted to be working with Red Pillar as we take on a long-sitting incumbent in New York's new 95th district," said Izzarelli. "Assemblywoman Galef and New York Assembly Democrats' anti-growth economic vision and failed leadership have brought us to where we are today. Unlike Ms. Galef, I have spent my career in the private sector of our economy working with small business-owners and employees. I will bring pro-growth fiscal policy back to New York State so that we can all enjoy a sound and stable economy that creates jobs."

Izzarelli will compete against Sandy Galef (AD-90) for New York's new 95th Assembly District seat on November 6.
